

ARE YOU DRIVING AN SUV TO THE CORNER STORE?

The bootcamp to master digital tools
so you can exist on the web
and still, keep it simple

low-data computing bootcamp

Most technology providers oversell.

They sell you an SUV to go to the corner store.

You can do so, but you don't have to.

You can exist on the web, and still, keep things simple.

Low-data computing is low maintenance, low cost, runs fast, prompts you to refine what you do and acquire new know-how; plus, you own and control your data.

COURSES building, launching & maintaining your own low-data website; digital literacy; shell literacy; low-data self-publishing; emails & mailing lists; static site generators.

LEVEL Beginners welcome.

DURATION a few hours.

FORMAT one-to-one or groups.

LOCATION At the location of your choice, in person, in Berlin.

LANGUAGE I can teach in English or in French ; mein Deutsch ist noch nicht gut genug, aber das ist work in progress.

PRICE Sliding scale. I can adapt. Please ask. Email me.

ABOUT ME My name is Roman. I work in tech; I also do research in philosophy & technology.

CONTACT yctct@yctct.com

LAYOUT yctct

TEXT yctct

ARTWORK le marteau rêveur

PRINTING the local copy shop

PAPER 80 g/m<sup>2</sup> recycled

PRINT RUN 200

FONTS Inter (license OFL-1.1)

COMPILED ON February 26, 2025

Like this flyer? It's licensed under CC BY-SA (ex. the rabbit). You can copy it, modify it and use it commercially, for your own marketing. Email me for the source file.

Commit 919ccb33e15a3a555656ce4d777451963296fe28

GPG fingerprint 2E0F FB60 7FEF 11D0 FB45 4DDC E979 E52A 7036 7A88