

LEARN HOW TO MAKE YOUR OWN LOW-DATA WEBSITE

The bootcamp to master digital tools
so you can exist on the web, and still, keep it simple.

Most website providers oversell.

They sell you an SUV to go to the corner store.

You can do so, but you don't have to.

You can exist on the web, and still, keep things simple.

A low-data website is low maintenance, low cost, loads fast, looks good on most devices, and is easy to update; plus, you own and control your data.

VALUE after this bootcamp you'll be able to build, launch and maintain low-data websites for you, or your clients.

LEVEL beginners welcome.

DURATION a few one-to-one sessions (groups also work).

LOCATION at the location of your choice, in person, in Berlin.

LANGUAGE I can teach in English or in French ; mein Deutsch ist noch nicht gut genug, aber das ist work in progress.

PRICE sliding scale. I can adapt. Please ask. Email me.

OTHER COURSES digital literacy; shell literacy; managing a domain name, emailing systems & mailing lists.

ABOUT ME my name is Roman. I work in tech; I also do research in philosophy & technology.
